2. Our legal bases for collecting and processing your personal data

2.1. Our legal basis for collecting this information is to allow us to reasonably perform the services that you have requested. ('Contract')

2.2. We will only collect information relating to your health where you have explicitly told us that we can process this information. In some cases, we may seek this information from you and will only process this if you have explicitly told us that we can. ('Consent')

2.3. We may use your data to improve the services that we offer. We believe this is in our business interest to ensure our services improve. ('Legitimate Interest')

2.4. From time to time, we may be required by applicable law to disclose your personal information to government bodies and regulators. ('Legal obligation')

3. How we look after your information

3.1. Information we hold about you is stored on secure servers that are protected from external access using best practice in information technology. Staff access our systems by individual password protected schemes, which limit access to personal data to those who need to use it to provide our services.

3.2. Your information may be sent to third parties such as the Department for Work and Pensions for verification. This will be transferred using best practice in information security and only those who have a need to view this information will be allowed access.

4. Your rights

4.1. Under Data Protection law, you have rights in relation to the information we collect and process about you.

4.2. You have the right to ask us for your personal information that we hold and process about you. This is known as a subject access request.

4.3. You can also ask:

4.3.1. That any inaccurate information we hold about you is corrected;

4.3.2. That we delete information about you for certain purposes;

4.3.3. That we don't make decisions about you by completely automated means;

4.3.4. That personal data you have given us be provided to you in a common machine-readable format or sent to a third party where this is technically feasible.

4.4. The rights set out above may apply in limited circumstances, and we may not always be able to comply with your request to exercise these rights. We will try to respond to a request to exercise your rights within 1 month.

4.5. To find out more about your rights please visit the Information Commissioners Office website.

4.6. If you are unhappy with the way we handle your personal information, please contact our Data Protection Officer at DPO@utilita.co.uk. We will try to address your concerns. You can also complain to the Information Commissioners Office who is the relevant regulatory body.

5. Changes to the Privacy Information Notice

5.1. Any changes we make to our Privacy Information Notice will be posted online or included in communications to you from time to time.
